EDUCATION WITH THE GRAIN OF THE UNIVERSE

A Peaceable Vision for the Future of Mennonite Schools, Colleges, and Universities

Edited by J. Denny Weaver
C. Henry Smith Series 11

Foreword by Susan Schultz Huxman

Summary: Is the grain of the universe visible? Working from the statement that the nonviolent Jesus reflects the grain of the universe, this book demonstrates how the grain can be visible in any academic discipline or its application in the life of the church or wider society. Authors shape philosophies of Mennonite higher educational institutions as they explore intersections of educational theories and practices with Anabaptist-Mennonite thought and peacemaking.

Contributors in order of appearance are J. Denny Weaver, Justin Heinzekehr, Drew G. I. Hart, Felipe Hinojosa, Benjamin Bixler, Laura Brennehan, Jackie Wyse-Rhodes, Hannah E. Heinzekehr, Malinda Elizabeth Berry, Gerald J. Mast, Sarah Ann Bixler, Daniel Shank Cruz, Rebecca Janzen, Lowell Ewert, Rudi Kauffman, Lonna Stoltzfus, Zachary Walton, Angela Horn Montel

"This volume is an important resource for those who value the place of the academy alongside the church in advancing a justice-oriented world. The diverse gathering of scholars skillfully speak to the challenges of faithful ecclesiology in the twenty-first century, with a wide array of clear-minded discussions that include spirituality, leadership, gender, race, and sexuality."
—Regina Shands Stoltzfus, Assistant Professor of Peace, Justice, and Conflict Studies, Goshen College

"Like the crack of the whip when Jesus cleansed the temple, the writers share profound insights about nonviolent action that need to be heard both inside and outside of our religious institutions."
—Glen Guyton, Chief Operating Officer, Mennonite Church USA

"I think readers will be most impressed by the tough questions, peculiar perspective, and aspirational sights that this volume of scholarship knits together."
—Susan Schultz Huxman, President, Eastern Mennonite University

"The present a road map for how peacemaking and Anabaptist theology jointly provide a lens for everything we do, both in academia and the church."
—Carlos Romero, Executive Director, Mennonite Education Agency
